RALPH T. O'NEIL ADDRESSES LEGION AT LONG BEACH

NATIONAL COMMANDER ASSERTS
LEGION NEVER ASKED UN-
FAIR LEGISLATION

OR TO PLACE UNJUST FINANCIAL BURDEN ON THE GOV-ERNMENT

Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—The American Legion resents accusations that veterans have made unreasonable demands upon the government, Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander, said today in addressing delegates attending the opening session of the annual convention of the California Department of the Legion.

"We have never in the past, nor will in the future, ask for legislation that is unfair or unreasonable, or that will place an unjust financial burden on our government," O'Neil said.

"The condition of unemployment among the world war veterans continues to be acute," O'Neil said. "The relief of this situation is one of the most pressing problems of the Legion today."

Discussing the recent adjusted service certificate loans, O'Neil said veterans who applied for loans were greatly in need and that most of the loans were made for those who already had borrowed on their certificates. He said that the money had gone to pay doctors' bills, rent long overdue, to buy clothing and food for children and sick wives, and particularly to purchase seed for spring crops.

The loan "has been nothing less than a God-send to those veterans in the farming communities where crops were ruined by the drought," O'Neil said.

Regarding legislation likely to be presented to the next congress, the national commander said:

"Now, as always, the primary responsibility of the Legion is to the disabled, and to the dependents of the dead and disabled."

"One of the matters of paramount importance is the question of caring for dependents of men who are hospitalized. Men will not go to the hospital and leave their families in want. Provision should be made for allowances to dependents of service men during hospitalization."

"There is also no reason why the widows and orphans of the veterans of the world war should not be accorded the same relief by the government as is being accorded the widows and orphans of the veterans of other wars."

"The members of the Legion realize better than anyone else the sacrifices and hardships of war," O'Neil said, "and no group is more anxious to insure a permanent peace to this country than this organization. Preservation of national peace and security is closely allied with the problem of taking the profits out of war."

"It seems imperative that we should sponsor legislation for naval construction that will bring us up to the London treaty parity. We should let it be known that the Legion is not content with a blue print navy."

"We should sponsor all legislation, in conformity with the permanent national defense policy, that will provide adequate protection to our country."

"A movement has been inaugurated by the United States government to further reduce the armaments of the world, and the American Legion with world peace as one of its highest ideals, should favor and encourage the limitation of military strength, so long as it is done by the nations in unison, and on a basis of equality, with no undue advantage to any one power and so long as the United States is adequately protected."

"In view of the activities of communism in this country we should support legislation giving the Department of Justice full authority to deal with this problem."

GOV. OLSON HAD NO RELAPSE

SLOWLY REGAINING HEALTH AT LAKE

Governor Floyd B. Olson's return from Gull lake was still uncertain, Vince A. Day, his secretary, said today.

Dr. Arthur W. Hoaglund, one of the governor's physicians, today issued the following statement through Day:

"The governor's general physical condition is excellent. He has a duodenal ulcer which is slowly responding to medical treatment and diet. His condition makes it essential that he have continued rest and quiet."

Day said Governor Olson had been upset after a business trip to Minneapolis last Wednesday but the secretary insisted there had been no relapse.

5 ARE KNOWN TO HAVE BEEN HANGED OR BATTERED TO DEATH

POWERS BRAZENLY PROUD OF
LETTERS FROM SEX-FRUS-
TRATED WOMEN

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Picks and sledges pounded and chipped in monotonous unison today at the cement floor of the windowless mountain garage as prison chain gangs hunted bodies of more starved women believed murdered by a hill country Romeo.

Outside the garage, in which five are known to have been hanged or battered to death, could be heard the labored breathing of other prisoners and the repelling sucking of stinking mud as their spades explored the soggy ground in which the five were buried.

In the county jail sat Harry N. Power, fat, bespectacled, brazenly proud of lines written women of almost every state, sex-frustrated women who resorted to matrimony by mail.

"Let them dig. They'll find no more. I tell you five is all. There's nothing more out there."

The insanity defense, for which police claim Powers and his counsel were preparing, was believed shattered today by a psychiatrist's announcement that Powers "knew right from wrong."

As the state prepared to bring the former soldier and ex-convict to trial for the quintet of killings, belief grew stronger that at least one more body lay at the bottom of a well 30 feet from the garage where the others were believed "executed" on an improvised gallows.

Dr. Edwin E. Mayer, University of Pittsburgh psychiatrist, who served in the Harry K. Thaw case when the Pittsburgh slayer of Stanford White sought his freedom, announced after a long conference with Powers that he "was on the border-line of insanity but knew right from wrong."

Investigators ordered resumption of digging today. They believed more names will be added to those of Mrs. Dorothy A. Pressler Lemke, Power's latest revealed victim, and Mrs. Asta Buick Elcher and her three children.

Scores have corresponded with Power or Cornelius O. Pierson as he called himself in most of the erotic letters so far uncovered. Many to whom he wrote cannot be found. Some may have died a natural death.

Authorities fear bodies of others may be revealed by the water of swift running Elk creek nearby which is being dragged systematically, or sealed below the cement floor of the garage Power built two months ago and used later as his butcher house.

Meanwhile, the thorough system and care Power used in the execution of his crimes are being revealed by his own word, by letters, by word from relatives of known victims, and in women's letters arriving daily.

The police version of Power's story of the execution of the five is:

"On Aug. 1 I took all five to the garage. I put the two women and the two girls in cells in the basement under the garage, leaving the boy upstairs."

"That night I went to the garage and hanged the two women. I let the boy watch it. When he screamed, I hit him over the head with a hammer until he was dead. Then I killed the two girls and buried them all at once."

Police said the cells in which Power had placed his victims were sound-proof. And upstairs he had built a crudely designed scaffold. The victims were led to their execution there, one by one, Power's story to them indicated.

Bones and other evidence leading to a continuation of the hunt for more victims were found in the ashes of a cottage near the Power home.

Police revealed letters written to Mrs. Lemke, who married August Lemke in Worcester, Mass., and has been living at Northboro, Mass., with a sister, Mrs. Chester Fleming. Lemke is reported still living in St. Paul.

One letter, part of which is unprintable, said:

"You certainly are a well preserved woman, to my way of thinking, just the right size and weight. I never did take any fancy to a slim woman, but prefer them plump."

"I suppose you have already begun the books I gave you."

"They were volumes on sex psychology."

Historic Homestead of Revolution Days Listed as Speakeasy

New York, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—The historic Prince homestead in Flushing, where George Washington stayed in the post-revolutionary days, was listed by police today as one of New York's 40,000 speakeasies.

The old house, the home of the late Lebrun Bradford Prince, first governor of New Mexico, was raided yesterday. Police said they found seven pints of liquor, Samuel Glazer, who police said was the bartender, was arrested.

Washington often visited the Prince family in the old homestead and selected plum trees for his Virginia estate from the famous Prince nurseries.

MRS. BLUEBEARD'S MONEY BUILT THE "SLAUGHTERHOUSE"

WHERE HARRY F. POWERS SAYS
HE KILLED FIVE PERSONS
IN COLD BLOOD

GARAGE COST $700 WHICH WIFE OF POWERS EARNED IN A LITTLE STORE

By MARTHA STRAYER
United Press Correspondent

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Bluebeard furnished the money to build the slaughterhouse where her husband says he killed five persons.

It cost $700, which the wife of Harry F. Powers, alias Cornelius O. Pierson, earned in a little store she and her unmarried sister, Bell Strother, inherited from their mother. The store is next to the house where Powers lived with his wife and sister-in-law. They have run it for 20 years.

"He wanted a place where he could make blue prints," said red-haired, double-chinned Mrs. Powers. "He wanted to make plans for houses, and he said he had to have a place where he could have acid for the blue prints."

At home in her small frame house, Mrs. Powers told a story of wifely devotion in their life together.

"I love that kid," she mourned. "He was good and kind to me. I love him from the bottom of my heart."

She said she never questioned his movements. When he went away and came back he always said he was glad to be home, and she would reply, "O. K. Honey. I'm glad to have you."

Every morning when he was home she would take a cold drink to him in bed, and he'd kid her when she gave it to him. "Now I'm ready to get up," he'd say.

Fifteen new letters from matrimonial suspects have been collected from his lock box at the post office since his arrest Thursday.

If they have been opened, Sheriff Grimm and Police Chief Duckworth are not willing to reveal their contents. They came from F. N. T., 1615 Wallace St., Philadelphia; Vam Boshock, Walnut Grove St., Wichita, Kas.; Camp Watson, Fla.; Burlington, N. H.; 601 Martin St., Clearfield, Pa.; J. E. 7342 Vernon Square St., St. Louis, Box 101, Detroit; Flushing, N. Y.; Norfolk, Va.; 1108 Woronva Ave., Ocean View, Va., and Jacksonville, Va.

One of the most pathetic exhibits is the last letter he received from the woman who apparently had been marked as his next victim—Bessie Storrs, Olean, N. Y., whom he was to go to see next Friday. This letter, dated August 24, raved on for eight pages about the happiness of the writer because "they soon would be together."

"Connie, dear," it began, "I'm so happy. Next Friday, just think of it, I can scarcely realize it. I will be here waiting for you."

"This is my last letter to you. I am so happy. Next Friday—kisses—love—Bessie."

Letters found in Powers' trunk reveal that he met and courted his real wife in the same way. He was then living in Mansfield, O., and he came on to Clarksburg four years ago and married her.

"Listen, dearie," she wrote him July 31, 1926. "It is absolutely my intention to find a sweet hubby to call my own. I am getting tired of single blessedness. That is why I bought his magazine (the matrimonial agency publication) as I don't care for my home-town people. They all look alike to me. I want a perfect gentleman for a hubby; one that will love his

'Witch' Landlady Confesses Killing Man After Poison Failed

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Breaking a six days silence, Mrs. Rose Veres, "witch" landlady, in whose shabby house 12 men died under strange circumstances, today confessed she killed one of the men after several attempts to poison him had failed, police announced.

She admitted, police said, pushing Steve Mak, a 68-year-old roomer, from a ladder at her home last Sunday. Mak, on whose life were insurance policies totalling $6,800, was the 12th man to die in the Veres household in the past several years.

Hounded by police inquisitors since her arrest last Tuesday, shortly after Mak's death from a fractured skull, the sullen, silent principal in the 12 mystery deaths lost her stoical calm this morning when confronted with the statements of almost 100 witnesses.

"They're right, I've been lying about it," she screamed. "I pushed Steve off the ladder, all right," she sobbed.

She then explained that she chose the ladder methods of disposing of Mak to collect his insurance after repeated attempts to achieve the same end by poison had failed, police said.

JAPAN'S OFFICIAL LINDBERGH TRIBUTE CEASES TONIGHT

WILL VISIT SUMMER VILLA OF
U. S. AMBASSADOR CAMERON
AT KARWIZAWA

Tokio, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Japan's official tribute to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, a six-day program of receptions and banquets, ends tonight with a dinner in their honor by Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki.

Tomorrow the famous family flying team that made the first aerial vacation trip from the United States to Japan will be free to do as they please. The Lindberghs decided that the first thing they would do would be to visit the summer villa of United States Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes at Karwizawa.

This morning Col. Lindbergh addressed military and civilian aviators. This afternoon he had his photograph taken as the model for a bronze statue. Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh were guests at a luncheon given by the Japan Air Transport Company.

Yesterday the commoners of Tokio paid formal honors to their distinguished visitors. A great crowd at Kibiya Park cheered the Lindberghs and heard the colonel predict that eventually air travel between the United States and Japan would be common. The affair was a noisy, gaudy demonstration on the part of the Tokyo populace and the way in which the Lindberghs entered the spirit of the occasion won them a great reception.

SNIPING GANGSTERS IN NEW YORK SHOOT A BYSTANDER

FROM CUSTOMARY 'BIG BLACK SEDAN

New York, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—For the third time in recent weeks gangsters sniping at an enemy across a street, crowded with women and children, have wounded an innocent bystander.

The latest victim is Jennie Balantino, 18, shot in the wrist by a wild bullet from the customary "big black sedan." The intended victim went unscathed.

The shooting occurred last night in the crowded "Red Hook" section of Brooklyn, shortly after police reported progress in their search for Vincent Coll, racketeer wanted for questioning in connection with the "child massacre" of five weeks ago, when one child was killed, and four wounded in a Harlem street.

Police also were congratulating themselves on apparently having solved the murder of Anthony Ferreri, 24, killed in what was to have been a triple execution against a slaughterhouse wall, when the girl was reported shot.

Miss Balantino was on her way to a

Earthquake Destroys Many Villages in Baluchistan

Karachi, India, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Fear that many villages were wiped out with a huge loss of life increased here today with meager reports of destruction by earthquake in Baluchistan.

The quake occurred Thursday and destroyed all means of communication with the outside world. First reports said that entire hills were demolished, houses collapsed without warning, and villages were flattened by a series of strong earth movements.

The towns of Moch Abiegum and Pannir were reported destroyed with at least 30 killed and hundreds injured. Two hundred shocks were felt within three days.

EVIDENCE IN FOSHAY CASE IS MOVED TO FEDERAL BUILDING

Minneapolis, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Evidence—a whole ton of it—was moved from the Foshay Tower today to the federal building in preparation for the trial of officials of the W. B. Foshay company which starts tomorrow.

The evidence includes the books and a large section of the correspondence of the company and its affiliates.

W. B. Foshay, head of the defunct company which collapsed in 1929 with a loss of millions of dollars to north-west investors, was here from Colorado to go on trial before Judge J. W. Molyneux on charges of using the mails to defraud.

CASH DRAWERS OF THE INSTITUTION

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Three bandits cut their way into the Security-First National Bank here today and escaped with $52,000 after imprisoning 10 employees.

The loss was covered by insurance. The robbers gained entrance to the bank by sawing the bars from a window. While they were at work, Joe Fisher, a passerby, discovered them. He was forced into the bank and the bandits sat down to await the arrival of the employees.

As they entered, one by one, the employees were directed to pursue their regular tasks pending arrival of K. L. Davis, branch manager. Upon his arrival, Davis was forced to open the vault and the fugitives leisurely looted the cash drawers.

When all the money in sight had been gathered up the bandits forced the employees into the vault, slammed the door and fled.

The loot was the largest obtained in a bank holdup here in several years.

PROPOSES ISSUING A SERIES OF BONDS LIKE DURING WAR

SECRETARY OF TREASURY AN-
NOUNCES BILLION-DOLLAR
REFUNDING PROGRAM

IS TO BE THE LARGEST SINGLE
OPERATION OF THIS CHARAC-
TER IN RECENT YEARS

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 31.—Secretary of Treasury Mellon revealed today how he plans to avoid a tax increase at the coming session of congress by a series of bond issues somewhat like the huge Liberty loan issues of the world war period.

He announced a billion-dollar refunding program, the largest single operation of this character in recent years. In consists of a 24-year $800,000,000 bond issue at the record low interest rate of three per cent, and a $300,000,000 issue of treasury certificates to run for a year and to bear interest at one and one-eighth per cent—a grand total of $1,100,000,000.

This bond issue is to be followed by one in December and another in March to meet notes coming due at that time and representing loans the government has made to pay its way during the depression.

A total of $634,000,000 of treasury certificates comes due on September 15. The bond issue and certificates are partly to refund this obligation and postpone payment as well as to meet about $30,000,000 in interest payments.

Old certificates maturing may be exchanged either for the bonds or the certificates. The issues are dated Sept. 15, the bond issue to mature in 1955. It is callable in 1951.

The new bond issue is the third of the year, one being floated in March for a total of $594,000,000 and a second in June for $834,000,000. On December 15, another batch of certificates mature, totalling $990,000,000, with others aggregating $124,000,000 coming due March 15.

The treasury has had to borrow on a large scale in the last few months to meet expenses. The income tax especially has fallen off, with no immediate prospect of any larger returns from this principal source of revenue. The cost of operating the government has increased gradually. The depression has called for unusual expenditures to help aid the unemployment situation.

A tax increase, it is considered, would help solve some of the fiscal problems, but the administration is set against one at the next session, and democrats apparently are no more anxious than republicans to vote larger levies on the eve of a national election.

The treasury, therefore, is gathering up bills for part of the depression costs, tying them up in bond issues, and putting them on the shelf to be paid by the next generation. Secretary Mellon thus will see the public debt, which he reduced from around $23,000,000,000 to a low point a few months ago of $16,000,000,000, begin to rise again.

The deficit at the end of the last fiscal year, June 30, was $903,000,000. The deficit for the new fiscal year is increasing more rapidly thus far, the treasury records show, with indications that it will be larger than the last one.

Mellon now is formulating a tax revision program to be submitted to congress a year hence, after elections are over.

4 FIRES RAVAGE IDAHO COUNTIES

DISTRICT UNDER MARTIAL LAW,
INCENDIARIAL TO BE CHECKED

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Four fire-ravaged Idaho counties were under martial law today as state authorities determined to check activities of incendiaries.

National guardsmen, until now armed only with fire fighting tools, shouldered rifles and patrolled forests of Idaho, Valley, Gem and Boise counties. The area may be extended to three other counties if incendiaries continue, Gov. C. Ben Ross said today.

Authorities blamed the epidemic of fires on men who had been relieved from work on the major conflagration in Boise Basin.

These jobless men, anxious to secure work and willing to wreak destruction to gain their objective, have set fire after fire throughout the south central Idaho area in the past 10 days, it was believed.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Bluebeard furnished the money to build the slaughterhouse where her husband says he killed five persons.

It cost $700, which the wife of Harry F. Powers, alias Cornelius O. Pierson, earned in a little store she and her unmarried sister, Bell Strother, inherited from their mother. The store is next to the house where Powers lived with his wife and sister-in-law. They have run it for 20 years.

"He wanted a place where he could make blue prints," said red-haired, double-chinned Mrs. Powers. "He wanted to make plans for houses, and he said he had to have a place where he could have acid for the blue prints."

At home in her small frame house, Mrs. Powers told a story of wifely devotion in their life together.

"I love that kid," she mourned. "He was good and kind to me. I love him from the bottom of my heart."

She said she never questioned his movements. When he went away and came back he always said he was glad to be home, and she would reply, "O. K. Honey. I'm glad to have you."

Every morning when he was home she would take a cold drink to him in bed, and he'd kiss her when she gave it to him. "Now I'm ready to get up," he'd say.

Fifteen new letters from matrimonial suspects have been collected from his lock box at the post office since his arrest Thursday.

If they have been opened, Sheriff Grimm and Police Chief Duckworth are not willing to reveal their contents. They came from F. N. T. 1615 Wallace St., Philadelphia; Vam Boshock, Walnut Grove St., Wichita, Kas.; Camp Watson, Fla.; Burlington, N. H.; 601 Martin St., Clearfield, Pa.; J. B. 7342 Vernon Square St., St. Louis, Box 101, Detroit; Flushing, N. Y.; Norfolk, Va.; 1108 Woronova Ave., Ocean View, Va.; and Jacksonburg, Va.

One of the most pathetic exhibits is the last letter he received from the woman who apparently had been marked as his next victim—Bessie Storrs, Olean, N. Y., whom he was to go to see next Friday. This letter, dated August 24, raved on for eight pages about the happiness of the writer because "they soon would be together."

"Connie, dear," it began, "I'm so happy. Next Friday, just think of it, I can sincerely realize it. I will be here waiting for you."

"This is my last letter to you. I am so happy. Next Friday—kisses—love—Bessie."

Letters found in Powers' trunk reveal that he met and courted his real wife in the same way. He was then living in Mansfield, O., and he came on to Clarksburg four years ago and married her.

"Listen, dearie," she wrote him July 31, 1926. "It is absolutely my intention to find a sweet hubby to call my own. I am getting tired of single blessedness. This is why I bought this magazine (the matrimonial agency publication) as I don't care for my home-town people. They all look alike to me. I want a perfect gentleman for a hubby; one that will love his

'Witch' Landlady
Confesses Killing Man
After Poison Failed

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Breaking a six days silence, Mrs. Rose Veres, "witch" landlady, in whose shabby house 12 men died under strange circumstances, today confessed she killed one of the men after several attempts to poison him had failed, police announced.

She admitted, police said, pushing Steve Mak, a 68-year-old roomer, from a ladder at her home last Sunday. Mak, on whose life were insurance policies totalling $6,800, was the 12th man to die in the Veres household in the past several years.

Hounded by police inquisitors since her arrest last Tuesday, shortly after Mak's death from a fractured skull, the sullen, silent principal in the 12 mystery deaths lost her stoical calm this morning when confronted with the statements of almost 100 witnesses.

"They're right, I've been lying about it," she screamed. "I pushed Steve off the ladder, all right," she sobbed.

She then explained that she chose the ladder methods of disposing of Mak to collect his insurance after repeated attempts to achieve the same end by poison had failed, police said.

Tokio, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Japan's official tribute to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, a six-day program of receptions and banquets, ends tonight with a dinner in their honor by Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki.

Tomorrow the famous family flying team that made the first aerial vacation trip from the United States to Japan will be free to do as they please. The Lindberghs decided that the first thing they would do would be to visit the summer villa of United States Ambassador Cameron Forbes at Karwizawa.

This morning Col. Lindbergh addressed military and civilian aviators. This afternoon he had his photograph taken as the model for a bronze statue. Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh were guests at a luncheon given by the Japan Air Transport Company.

Yesterday the commoners of Tokio paid formal honors to their distinguished visitors. A great crowd at Kibiya Park cheered the Lindberghs and heard the colonel predict that eventually air travel between the United States and Japan would be common. The affair was a noisy, gaudy demonstration on the part of the Tokio populace and the way in which the Lindberghs entered the spirit of the occasion won them a great reception.

New York, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—For the third time in recent weeks gangsters sniping at an enemy across a street crowded with women and children have wounded an innocent bystander.

The latest victim is Jennie Balantino, 18, shot in the wrist by a wild bullet from the customary "big black sedan." The intended victim went unscathed.

The shooting occurred last night in the crowded "Red Hook" section of Brooklyn, shortly after police reported progress in their search for Vincent Coll, racketeer wanted for questioning in connection with the "child massacre" of five weeks ago, when one child was killed, and four wounded in a Harlem street.

Police also were congratulating themselves on apparently having solved the murder of Anthony Ferrari, 24, killed in what was to have been a triple execution against a slaughterhouse wall, when the girl was reported shot.

Miss Balantino was on her way to a

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Three bandits cut their way into the Security-First National Bank here today and escaped with $52,000 after imprisoning 10 employees.

The loot was covered by insurance.

The robbers gained entrance to the bank by sawing the bars from a window. While they were at work, Joe Fisher, a passerby, discovered them. He was forced into the bank and the bandits sat down to await the arrival of the employees.

As they entered, one by one, the employees were directed to pursue their regular tasks pending arrival of K. I. Davis, branch manager. Upon his arrival, Davis was forced to open the vault and the fugitives leisurely looted the cash drawers.

When all the money in sight had been gathered up the bandits forced the employees into the vault, slammed the door and fled.

The loot was the largest obtained in a bank holdup here in several years.

PROPOSES ISSUING A SERIES OF BONDS
LIKE DURING WAR

SECRETARY OF TREASURY AN-
NOUNCES BILLION-DOLLAR
REFUNDING PROGRAM

IS TO BE THE LARGEST SINGLE
OPERATION OF THIS CHARAC-
TER IN RECENT YEARS

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 31.—Secretary of Treasury Mellon revealed today how he plans to avoid a tax increase at the coming session of congress by a series of bond issues somewhat like the huge Liberty loan issues of the world war period.

He announced a billion-dollar refunding program, the largest single operation of this character in recent years. It consists of a 24-year $800,000,000 bond issue at the record low interest rate of three per cent, and a $300,000,000 issue of treasury certificates to run for a year and to bear interest at one and one-eighth per cent—a grand total of $1,100,000,000.

This bond issue is to be followed by one in December and another in March to meet notes coming due at that time and representing loans the government has made to pay its way during the depression.

A total of $634,000,000 of treasury certificates comes due on September 15. The bond issue and certificates are partly to refund this obligation and postpone payment as well as to meet about $30,000,000 in interest payments.

Old certificates maturing may be exchanged either for the bonds or the certificates. The issues are dated Sept. 15, the bond issue to mature in 1955. It is callable in 1951.

The new bond issue is the third of the year, one being floated in March for a total of $594,000,000 and a second in June for $834,000,000. On December 15, another batch of certificates mature, totalling $980,000,000, with others aggregating $124,000,000 coming due March 15.

The treasury has had to borrow on a large scale in the last few months to meet expenses. The income tax especially has fallen off, with no immediate prospect of any larger returns from this principal source of revenue. The cost of operating the government has increased gradually. The depression has called for unusual expenditures to help aid the unemployment situation.

A tax increase, it is considered, would help solve some of the fiscal problems, but the administration is set against one at the next session, and democrats apparently are no more anxious than republicans to vote larger levies on the eve of a national election.

The treasury, therefore, is gathering up bills for part of the depression costs, tying them up in bond issues, and putting them on the shelf to be paid by the next generation. Secretary Mellon thus will see the public debt, which he reduced from around $23,000,000,000 to a low point a few months ago of $16,000,000,000, begin to rise again.

The deficit at the end of the last fiscal year, June 30, was $903,000,000. The deficit for the new fiscal year is increasing more rapidly thus far, the treasury records show, with indications that it will be larger than the last one.

Mellon now is formulating a tax revision program to be submitted to congress a year hence, after elections are over.

DISTRICT UNDER MARTIAL LAW,
INCENDIARISM TO BE CHECKED

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Four fire-ravaged Idaho counties were under martial law today as state authorities determined to check activities of incendiaries.

National guardsmen, until now armed only with fire fighting tools, shouldered rifles and patrolled forests of Idaho, Valley, Gem and Boise counties. The area may be extended to three other counties if incendiary continues, Gov. C. Ben Ross said today.

Authorities blamed the epidemic of fires on men who had been relieved from work on the major conflagration in Boise Basin.

These jobless men, anxious to secure work and willing to wreak destruction to gain their objective, have set fire after fire throughout the south central Idaho area in the past 10 days, it was believed.

MOST OF MAIN STREET OF RANDOM, LAKE, WIS., ASHES

2 MEN DISCOVERING FIRE COULD HAVE EXTINGUISHED IT AT START

FIRE DEPARTMENTS CALLED FROM 8 OTHER TOWNS. TOTAL DAMAGE IS $64,000

Random Lake, Wis., Aug. 31.—(UP)—Most of Main street lay in ashes today after a fire that threatened to level the whole town although it could have been extinguished by the two men who discovered it if they had had one bucket of water handy.

Fire departments from eight other towns aided the local department and finally controlled the flames Saturday night. Five buildings had been destroyed and damage of $64,000 done.

The structures burned down were: Co-operative Association Feed Mill and Elevator, Herman W. Berges warehouse, Bergers General Store, Henry Paulin's harness shop and residence, John P. Altemhofen's real estate office building.

Chester Stahl and Albert Utach, feed mill employees, said the blaze was only a small patch in a room in the mill when they discovered it. By the time they brought buckets of water, it was roaring through the building.

A high wind carried it to other structures. Spontaneous combustion was believed to have started the fire.

The upstairs apartment of Mary Garbinger in Paulin's building and the dental office of Dr. William Dettman in Altemhofen's building were burned.

PHIL IS PROPHET FOR SPORTSMEN

Green Hill Proprietor, Phillip F. Holzman, Can Tell You Moods of Fish, Game

"How're the fish biting today, Phil?" It's an oft repeated question these days at The Green Hill on Lower Gull Lake to its genial host, Phillip F. Holzman, proprietor.

And if Phil says they're biting, he means it.

If the fish aren't so hungry, Phil will begin to discuss other events with you. Phil was enthusiastic yesterday. As a result many Brainerd fishermen flocked to his place, rented boats and minnows and proceeded to pull in the big fellows. One party of three from Brainerd caught nine pike that weighed better than 25 pounds.

Pretty soon now hunters will question Phil about the duck shooting. The Green Hill is one of the more popular rendezvous for sportsmen in this lake country. It is located eight miles west and four miles north of Brainerd near the Pine Beach hotel.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

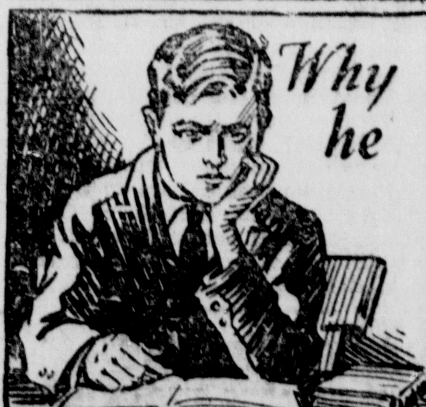

Activities of the Brainerd Y. M. C. A. will assume form for the autumn and winter program starting this week. An unusually early response has been heard from the young people's organizations to start their program immediately with the opening of the city schools. I. L. Peterson, secretary of the local "Y" who has spent the last month in Minneapolis, stated that accommodations for as many members as possible would be arranged for the new program this season.

A cabinet meeting of the new officers of the Hi-Y club will take place at "Y" tonight for the purpose of arranging the preliminaries of the first meeting next week. Donald Hanson, Robt. Ebert, Howard Zander and Robt. Jackson constitute the new officers for this year's club. This meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Anna Cass assumes the presidency of the girls Tri-Hi club which is now going into its third year. Since its formation, the club has grown to such an extent that one club cannot conveniently meet the demands. The Tri-Hi club's officers will hold a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening.

The two junior clubs for grade school boys will start soon after school opens. A regular program of woodcraft, instruction in first aid, aviation, camping and a christian citizenship course will keep the clubs busy throughout the year, along with their gym work.

A meeting of the board of directors is set tentatively for Wednesday night at which time the coming seasons program will be decided on.

MOST OF MAIN STREET OF RANDOM, LAKE, WIS., ASHES

2 MEN DISCOVERING FIRE COULD HAVE EXTINGUISHED IT AT START

FIRE DEPARTMENTS CALLED FROM 8 OTHER TOWNS. TOTAL DAMAGE IS $64,000

Random Lake, Wis., Aug. 31.—(UP)—Most of Main street lay in ashes today after a fire that threatened to level the whole town although it could have been extinguished by the two men who discovered it if they had had one bucket of water handy.

Fire departments from eight other towns aided the local department and finally controlled the flames Saturday night. Five buildings had been destroyed and damage of $64,000 done.

The structures burned down were: Co-operative Association Feed Mill and Elevator, Herman W. Berges warehouse, Bergers General Store, Henry Paulin's harness shop and residence, John P. Altenhofen's real estate office building.

Chester Stahl and Albert Utah, feed mill employees, said the blaze was only a small patch in a room in the mill when they discovered it. By the time they brought buckets of water, it was roaring through the building.

A high wind carried it to other structures. Spontaneous combustion was believed to have started the fire.

The upstairs apartment of Mary Garbinger in Paulin's building and the dental office of Dr. William Dettman in Altenhofen's building were burned.

PHIL IS PROPHET FOR SPORTSMEN

Green Hill Proprietor, Phillip F. Holman, Can Tell You Moods of Fish, Game

"How're the fish biting today, Phil?" It's an oft repeated question these days at The Green Hill on Lower Gull Lake to its genial host, Phillip F. Holman, proprietor.

And if Phil says they're biting, he means it.

If the fish aren't so hungry, Phil will begin to discuss other events with you.

Phil was enthusiastic yesterday. As a result many Brainerd fishermen flocked to his place, rented boats and minnows and proceeded to pull in the big fellows. One party of three from Brainerd caught nine pike that weighed better than 25 pounds.

Pretty soon now hunters will question Phil about the duck shooting. The Green Hill is one of the more popular rendezvous for sportsmen in the lake country. It is located eight miles west and four miles north of Brainerd near the Pine Beach hotel.

DOES NOT WANT ANY PART COTTON CROP DESTROYED

SIR HENRI DETERDING, FAMOUS
ECONOMIST, VOICES HIS VIEWS

SUCH IDEA OF DESTROYING COT-TON SHOULD BE CON-DEMNED

Sir Henri Deterding, director general of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Co., director of the Shell Transport and Trading Co., and internationally famous as economist and oil magnate, opposes proposal to destroy part of the United States cotton crop. He gives his reasons in the following copyright article written for the United Press.

By SIR HENRI DETERDING,
Famous Economist and Oil Magnate
(Copyright 1931 by United Press)

London, Aug. 31.—I see it is proposed to destroy part of the cotton crop in the United States in order to get better prices. I think such an idea ought to be condemned by every well-thinking business man.

Every industry is based on two principal factors, viz: the producer and the consumer. When the producer produces too much and consequently is faced with a price for his products on which he loses, he can only do one right thing, namely, to try and increase consumption.

Consumption of staple products can only be increased on a sufficiently large scale by increasing the world's buying power.

Eight hundred million Chinese, Indians and Russians cannot buy because their buying power has been reduced by:

(A) Reduction by two-thirds of their only wealth, namely silver.

(B) Revolutions upsetting trade.

These things can be put right by:

(A) Abolishing the boycott of silver by re-creating the demand for it, and by the making again of silver coins of adequate silver content, instead of containing alloy as at present.

English coins have been debased from 900 fine to 500 fine, Dutch coins from 900 fine to 700 fine and German coins from 900 fine to 50 fine.

(B) By assisting in putting down revolutions instead of sympathizing with or helping these disturbing elements.

By this means the demand for goods like cotton will increase enormously, whilst for the next season the cotton crop could be improved in quality and diminished in quantity by the timely reduction of the number of buds on each plant. The less the number of buds the stronger and healthier will be the remainder.

Nobody has the right to destroy what others need.

Increased buying power means more for peace than anything else. It means progress; whilst the destruction of products means a set-back to civilization and ultimately leads to discontent and revolution.

If the purchasing power of money in China increased they will be able to buy more cotton goods, and as a result Lancashire will be in a position to employ more men to spin, and the demand for Liverpool and American cotton must increase. The spinners will in their turn have more money to spend.

Therefore, the increased buying power of five hundred million Chinese increases the purchasing power of tens of millions more people over and above the five hundred million afore mentioned.

It is the only way to get out of the present impasse as a result of which thousands of cotton cultivators and millions of cotton weavers are put out of employment.

Savings banks and other similar institutions have been experiencing a decline in deposits as an outcome of the present situation, ultimately leading to less credit.

Discovery of Nitrogen

Nitrogen was first recognized as a distinct substance by Daniel Rutherford of the University of Edinburgh in 1772. His demonstration consisted in showing that when a small animal breathes the air in an enclosed space for a while and the carbon dioxide produced is removed by absorption, there still remains a gas that is incapable of supporting respiration.

"Death has taken my previous wife from me," said the letter, "leaving me quite alone and very lonely. I am longing for some one to fill that empty space in my heart." He signed himself, "Most sincerely, C. O. Pierson, Box 277, Clarksburg, W. Va.," and added: "P. S.—My name in full is Cornelius Orvin Pierson, 'Connie' for short."

For impressive paragraphs to be inserted in subsequent letters he had a file of newspaper and magazine clippings of all kinds; tender sentiments from advice to lovelorn columns.

ALEXANDER LEGGE DEFENDS FEDERAL FARM BOARD TODAY

LEGGE IS ONE OF COUNTRY'S
FOREMOST ADVOCATES OF CO-
OPERATION AMONG FARMERS

DECLARES FARMERS ARE BET-
TER OFF THAN MANY WORK-
ERS IN NATIONAL GROUPS

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 31.—(UP)—Alexander Legge, one of the country's foremost advocates of co-operation among farmers, defended the federal farm board in an address before the men who claim they fathered the modern farm co-operative movement in America.

"I forecast a future for the American farmer better than anything he has enjoyed in recent years," Legge told Kankakee County Soil and Crop Association members who claim their organization was the first real farmers' co-operative in the country.

The former chairman of the farm board said he believed that in comparison with workers in other industries, farmers were better off than any other national group.

He said that farmers suffered first and most from the depression of 1920 and 1921, but that due to activities of the farm board they had suffered last and least from the present depression.

"The farmer at least has a roof over his head, a bed to sleep in and nourishing food produced upon his own soil whereby to keep body and soul together," he said, after telling that many workers in cities had been made absolutely destitute.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Dorothy A. Pressler Lemke, one of the victims of West Virginia's modern Bluebeard, was the divorced wife of a St. Paul man.

She divorced Albert O. Lemke in 1923 and received a $1,500 settlement from her husband, according to Frank E. McAllister, Chicago attorney who handled Mrs. Lemke's divorce proceedings while a lawyer here.

McAllister was here today for a case in probate court. The attorney said Mrs. Lemke had delusions of persecution at the time of her divorce. At that time, she had between $4,000 and $5,000 in cash and government bonds, McAllister said. Mrs. Lemke went to Worcester, Mass., before the hearing on the divorce and refused to return for the proceedings.

SHERIFF THINKS HE HAS MURDER SUSPECT

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 31.—(UP)—Sheriff H. A. Neilson of Pennington county today wired Salt Lake City officials for a complete description of George McDonald, who is indicted there for the murder of Frank Snyder.

The sheriff said that information which made him suspicious of Jake Richards, who is serving a six months term in the Rapid City jail, was brought to his attention yesterday and he wired the western city.

Richards has served four of his six months' term for robbery at Rockford, a small town in Pennington county. Sheriff Neilson said nothing could be done against Richards until at least a tentative identification was made on information sent from Salt Lake City officials.

Snyder was killed last May 6.

ACCORD BETWEEN VATICAN, ITALIAN GOVERNMENT MADE

APPROVED BY POPE PIUS XI
AND PREMIER MUS-
SOLINI

TEXT PRINTED PRIVATELY, AND
IS SENT TO MEMBERS OF COL-
LEGE OF CARDINALS

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Rome, Aug. 31.—The accord between the Vatican and the Italian government has been completed, it was announced today, and has been approved by Pope Pius XI and Premier Mussolini.

The text of the accord was printed privately. It was sent to the members of the College of Cardinals, many of whom are at their summer residences. Their approval is not necessary, however, as the pope took full responsibility for the negotiations.

There was a marked lessening of tension between the Vatican and the Italian government this morning. Prelates and members of the government staff fraternized openly for the first time since the open break, caused principally by differences over education of the youth of the country.

Provisions of the accord were guarded closely.

It was learned, however, that both sides were satisfied with the formula for the education of youths through a system whereby special clerical inspectors would oversee the Catholic schools.

Members of the government expected an official announcement shortly.

It was believed that the differences growing out of simultaneous membership in the Fascist organization and the church had been bridged by restricting Catholic activities solely.

This was aided considerably by the fact that there will be jurisdiction of local bishops but not by the national hierarchy.

Premier Mussolini ordered prefects all through Italy today to reopen the Azione Cattolica clubs, except in Rome, where they will be opened when the announcement of the accord is made officially.

Police began today to remove the seals from the doors of Catholic clubs and returning the keys to club officials. The reopening order was understood to apply to the Knights of Columbus playgrounds which were shut.

“Dear Peggy

I'm almost too excited to write, and there's so much to see, both inside the plane and out. We've left Washington behind now, and I've just had a Chesterfield in the smoking compartment—they serve them on every ship.

“Among the eighteen passengers there's a senator and a foreign diplomat, and I'm surprised at the number of women. The trip is two hundred miles and the meter in the cabin reads two miles a minute, think of that.

“For me, the Chesterfields were the nicest touch of all. I was just dying for a smoke, and when the hostess passed them (and my favorite cigarette at that) everyone else seemed as tickled as I was. And my—they did taste good!

Chesterfields are served in the smoking compartments of all these planes—the largest and most luxurious in the East. With the fast growth of air travel, Chesterfield makes many new friends each day, here as in city streets and country homes—wherever good taste counts.

A mild cigarette—delightfully mild and smooth—with a tobacco fragrance all its own.

Whether you're air-minded or not, you'll always find Chesterfield on the air-line to taste—the quickest way to get there. They Satisfy!

ALEXANDER LEGGE DEFENDS FEDERAL FARM BOARD TODAY

LEGGE IS ONE OF COUNTRY'S
FOREMOST ADVOCATES OF CO-
OPERATION AMONG FARMERS

DECLARES FARMERS ARE BET-
TER OFF THAN MANY WORK-
ERS IN NATIONAL GROUPS

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Alexander Legge, one of the country's foremost advocates of co-operation among farmers, defended the federal farm board in an address before the men who claim they fattered the modern farm co-operative movement in America.

"I forecast a future for the American farmer better than anything he has enjoyed in recent years," Legge told Kankakee County Soil and Crop Association members who claim their organization was the first real farmers' co-operative in the country.

The former chairman of the farm board said he believed that in comparison with workers in other industries, farmers were better off than any other national group.

He said that farmers suffered first and most from the depression of 1920 and 1921, but that due to activities of the farm board they had suffered last and least from the present depression.

"The farmer at least has a roof over his head, a bed to sleep in and nourishing food produced upon his own soil whereby to keep body and soul together," he said, after telling that many workers in cities had been made absolutely destitute.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Dorothy A. Pressler Lemke, one of the victims of West Virginia's modern Bluebeard, was the divorced wife of a St. Paul man.

She divorced Albert O. Lemke in 1923 and received a $1,500 settlement from her husband, according to Frank E. McAllister, Chicago attorney who handled Mrs. Lemke's divorce proceedings while a lawyer here.

McAllister was here today for a case in probate court.

The attorney said Mrs. Lemke had delusions of persecution at the time of her divorce. At that time, she had between $4,000 and $5,000 in cash and government bonds, McAllister said. Mrs. Lemke went to Worcester, Mass., before the hearing on the divorce and refused to return for the proceedings.

SHERIFF THINKS HE HAS MURDER SUSPECT

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Sheriff H. A. Neilson of Pennington county today wired Salt Lake City officials for a complete description of George McDonald, who is indicted there for the murder of Frank Snyder.

The sheriff said that information which made him suspicious of Jake Richards, who is serving a six months term in the Rapid City jail, was brought to his attention yesterday and he wired the western city.

Richards has served four of his six months' term for robbery at Rockford, a small town in Pennington county. Sheriff Neilson said nothing could be done against Richards until at least a tentative identification was made on information sent from Salt Lake City officials.

Snyder was killed last May 6.

ACCORD BETWEEN VATICAN, ITALIAN GOVERNMENT MADE

APPROVED BY POPE PIUS XI
AND PREMIER MUS-
SOLINI

TEXT PRINTED PRIVATELY, AND
IS SENT TO MEMBERS OF COL-
LEGE OF CARDINALS

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Rome, Aug. 31.—The accord between the Vatican and the Italian government has been completed, it was announced today, and has been approved by Pope Pius XI and Premier Mussolini.

The text of the accord was printed privately. It was sent to the members of the College of Cardinals, many of whom are at their summer residences. Their approval is not necessary, however, as the pope took full responsibility for the negotiations.

There was a marked lessening of tension between the Vatican and the Italian government this morning. Prelates and members of the government staff fraternized openly for the first time since the open break, caused principally by differences over education of the youth of the country.

Provisions of the accord were guarded closely.

It was learned, however, that both sides were satisfied with the formula for the education of youths through a system whereby special clerical inspectors would oversee the Catholic schools.

Members of the government expected an official announcement shortly.

It was believed that the differences growing out of simultaneous membership in the Fascist organization and the church had been bridged by restricting Catholic activities solely.

This was aided considerably by the fact that there will be jurisdiction of local bishops but not by the national hierarchy.

Premier Mussolini ordered prefects all through Italy today to reopen the Azione Cattolica clubs, except in Rome, where they will be opened when the announcement of the accord is made officially.

Police began today to remove the seals from the doors of Catholic clubs and returning the keys to club officials. The reopening order was understood to apply to the Knights of Columbus playgrounds which were shut.

Aboard Airliner Eastern Air Transport

Smoking compartment, Washington-New York plane. Hostess offering Chesterfields. Photos by courtesy Eastern Air Transport, Inc.

Dear Peggy

I'm almost too excited to write, and there's so much to see, both inside the plane and out. We've left Washington behind now, and I've just had a Chesterfield in the smoking compartment—they serve them on every ship.

"Among the eighteen passengers there's a senator and a foreign diplomat, and I'm surprised at the number of women. The trip is two hundred miles and the meter in the cabin reads two miles a minute; think of that.

"For me, the Chesterfields were the nicest touch of all. I was just dying for a smoke, and when the hostess passed them (and my favorite cigarette at that) everyone else seemed as tickled as I was. And my—they did taste good!

Chesterfields are served in the smoking compartments of all these planes—the largest and most luxurious in the East. With the fast growth of air travel, Chesterfield makes many new friends each day, here as in city streets and country homes—wherever good taste counts.

A mild cigarette—delightfully mild and smooth—with a tobacco fragrance all its own.

Whether you're air-minded or not, you'll always find Chesterfield on the air-line to taste—the quickest way to get there. They Satisfy!

To Dispatch Readers

THIS is the last number of The Brainerd Daily Dispatch to be issued under the ownership and management that has conducted the paper since it was started June 3, 1901, and also The Brainerd Dispatch, the weekly edition, since it was acquired by purchase, Aug. 3, 1883. This covers a period of a little over 48 years for the weekly edition, and over 30 years of service on the daily. During that long time such friendships have been made, and such pleasant relations established, that it is with the deepest regret that we sever our connection with these two publications that have been the work of a lifetime.

What measure of success we have attained has been due to the generous and loyal support of the people of this city and community, and the intelligent and loyal support that has been given us at all times by as faithful a group of employees and assistants as ever served an employer.

To both the public that gave us its loyal support, and to our fellow workers on the paper who served us so faithfully, we owe a debt of gratitude that we never can repay, and we extend to both our sincerest, heartfelt thanks.

For the gentlemen who succeed us we ask the public's continued loyal support. They seem to be, and undoubtedly are, live, progressive newspaper men of the highest type, and we believe they will continue to give this city and community a first-class daily newspaper, probably increasing its usefulness and influence in the community more rapidly than the present management has done or could do.

However that may be, we wish again to express our deepest gratitude to all who have made our work here a pleasure at all times.

Sincerely yours,
F. W. WIELAND.

Best Wishes, Mr. Wieland

EMPLOYEES of The Brainerd Dispatch regret the termination of newspaper work by Mr. F. W. Wieland and are unanimous in their estimation of his high qualities as a leader in his chosen field and as a considerate employer.

As evidence of the high esteem in which he has been held and the pleasant relations he established, it may be noted that men have labored with him 25 years and more in upbuilding The Dispatch.

It comes as a severe tug to the heartstrings of every employee to give up such pleasant relations. It is the wish of every one that his years be filled with peace and enjoyment and that The Dispatch, which he guided and built, will continue to grow in power and prestige.

Saying Goodbye to Tourists

BRAINERD Rotary at the last meeting had a program dedicated to a "goodbye" to the tourist visitors and observed it at this time while the visitors are still among us. A farewell set for the close of the season would be valueless insofar as the chief beneficiaries of the courtesy would be winging their way home.

Former District President Dr. Phil Sheridan of Rochester, was the speaker of the day and paid a tribute to Brainerd. He recounted the changes in its appearance and the progress recorded. The first slogan 21 years ago when he lived here was "Gateway to the Iron Range." It was followed by "Brainerd, Heart of the Lake Region."

The automobile came and with it good roads. Gull lake grew to be one of the scenic wonders of the middle west. Large hotels like Breezy Point, Grand View Lodge, Pine Beach hotel, were built and hundreds of cottages, etc., dotted the lake shore.

"Business prospers through fellowship," said the minister. The philosophy of Rotary emphasizes fellowship. The most outstanding feature of the International Rotary convention was its fellowship. Many languages were spoken there, but the shaking of hands, the smiles based in real sincerity, had a universal meaning, that of fellowship.

And so, saying goodbye to the tourists, combined an expression of appreciation of their stay here and of genuine sorrow that they were leaving. Their good fellowship has enlivened Rotary club meetings, and their stay at the lakes has been a real factor in the upbuilding of town and lake country.

Pioneer Hall at University of Minnesota

PIONEER HALL, the University of Minnesota's new residence for men, will be completed and ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall quarter of 1931. This comfortable and up-to-date home for college men is the first in a system that the University plans to construct. It has been built and equipped to provide the most desirable residence advantages at very moderate cost.

It is an attractive Colonial structure, built to house 258 students. It is arranged in eight houses forming a quadrangle. Each house has a separate entrance, and offers accommodations for approximately 32 students. These houses will be named after distinguished pioneers.

Meals as well as living quarters will be supplied, and there is ample provision in the way of social rooms, baths, storage space, and other necessary facilities. A well-furnished and comfortable lounge, combined with a large, pleasant dining-room provides an ideal place in which dances and other social affairs may be conducted.

Only undergraduates will be admitted to Pioneer Hall. If preference is given any applicants, freshmen from outside the Twin Cities will have first choice. There is in this association of students the opportunity for making friendships that will last through life. Living in this democratic, and at the same time cosmopolitan atmosphere will be an experience of distinctly educational value. Every opportunity has been taken to make the rooms of such convenience as to contribute to study.

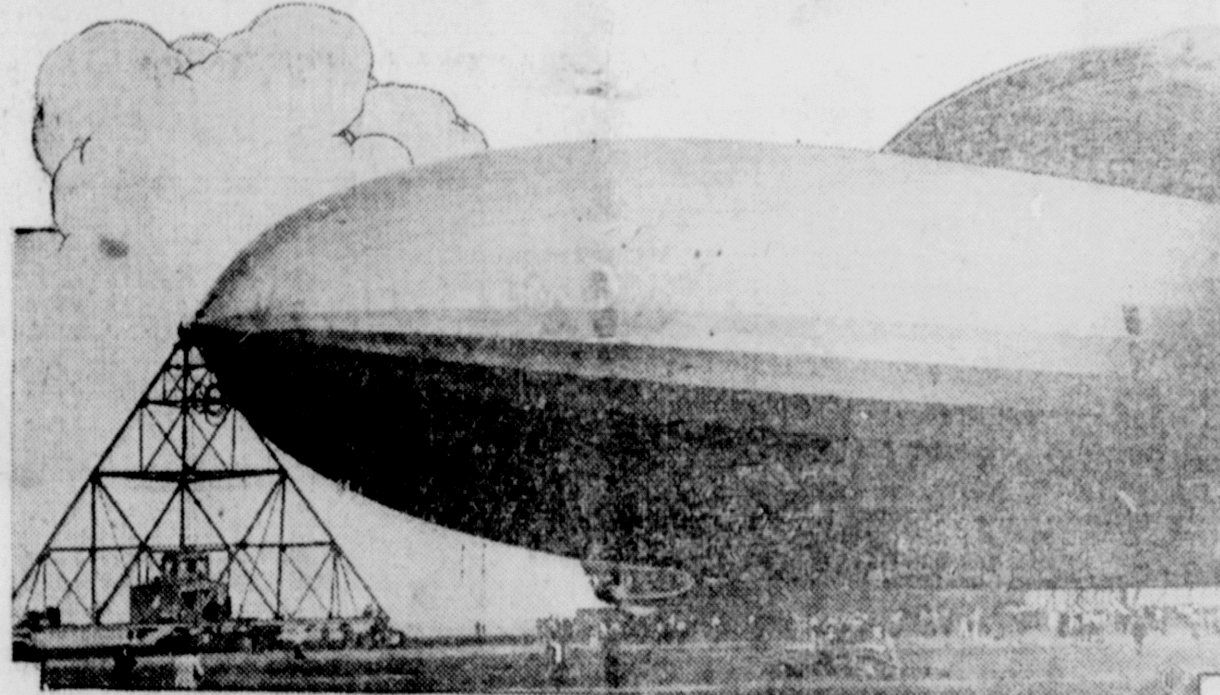

TOMATOES raised in various gardens of Brainerd have attained the size of one pound and even larger. Apple trees, it seems, are not to be outdone by the vegetables, and in a garden at 623 L street, Northeast, one finds an apple tree boasting blossoms and fruit at the same time.

THE advent of September with its cooler weather foreshadows better fishing in the lakes of the Brainerd Region. Fish never do bite very good in warm weather.

DAMMANN ISSUES INITIAL CALL FOR FOOTBALL TUESDAY

COACH TO DRILL CANDIDATES IN PRELIM STEPS

EXPECTS TO GET IN FOUR OR FIVE PRACTICES BEFORE SCHOOL OPENS

TEN LETTERMEN TO RETURN; BETWEEN 60 AND 70 MAY ANSWER FIRST CALL

Coach Bill Dammann today issued a call for all prospective candidates for the Brainerd high school football team to report for the initial practice Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the municipal field.

The coach will put his men through fundamentals, kicking and informal practices before school opens Tuesday, Sept. 8. He expects to get in four or five practices this week so the men will be able to swing into more strenuous workouts after the opening of school.

Between 60 and 70 candidates are expected to answer the call for gridiron material for the Brainerd high this season. Ten lettermen will return: Franks, Foster, Gabiou, Koeck, McPherson, Templeton, Swanson, Heikinen, Bob Wygle, Gerry Wygle.

Nine lettermen are lost to the team this year by graduation: Garvey, Cass, Hogan, Lukens, Marshall, Patterson, Schuet, Wareing, Moe.

Among the new candidates who will bid for a berth on the varsity are Lowell White, Clarence Edstrom, Loren Brandt, Clyde Brandow.

Coach Dammann will complete the season's schedule by the latter part of the week, he announced.

Assistant Coach Ben Taylor will be in uniform again this year to give his valuable aid in the building of a strong eleven.

SCHAAF, CAMPOLO ANXIOUS TO FIGHT

MAKE SECOND EFFORT TO STAGE 12-ROUND BOUT AT EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN

New York, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Ernie SchAAF, Jack Sharkey's discarded protégé, and Victorio Campolo of Argentina were prepared to make a second effort to stage their scheduled 12-round bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn.

The bout was originally scheduled for last Wednesday but was postponed because of rain—as was every outdoor show scheduled in the metropolitan area last week.

The fight will mean elimination of the loser from consideration as a heavyweight championship prospect. SchAAF is a slight favorite to win because of his superior boxing skill and his string of seven consecutive knockouts.

Campolo is making what may be his last stand. If he falls against SchAAF, as he did against Scott, Risko and Loughran, Victorio will have forfeited his last claim to ranking as a top-notch.

COMPETITION FOR LAST PLACE IS A REAL KEEN ONE

SUPERIORITY OF PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS TAKES ALL THRILLS FROM PENNANT RACE

3 TEAMS, CHICAGO, DETROIT AND BOSTON, ARE COMPETING FOR CELLAR BERTH

By L. S. CAMERON
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—If last place rather than first was the prize at stake in the American league, there would be no lack of interest in the 1931 race.

For, whereas the superiority of the Philadelphia Athletics has taken all the thrills from the pennant race, the competition for last place is the keenest of recent years. Three teams—Chicago, Detroit and Boston—are in a virtual tie for the cellar berth, with St. Louis only two games ahead.

The Chicago White Sox apparently were trying to retain undisputed possession of the berth yesterday, making eight errors afild, but they won the game, 10 to 8, in 12 innings and now are tied with Detroit at 397 each.

Boston remained only one point ahead, by dropping a 14 to 4 decision to the New York Yankees. Lou Gehrig hit his 37th homer of the season.

St. Louis scored a double victory over Cleveland, 8 to 3 and 6 to 3. Walter Stewart held the Indians to seven hits in the opener and Dick Coffman won the second game when his mates staged a four run rally in the eighth. Washington's second place Senators defeated Philadelphia, 5 to 1, in the other American league contest, cutting the A's lead to 1½ games. Alvin Crowder allowed the champions only 7 hits.

"Fidgety Phil" Collins held the New York Giants to one hit in the second game of a doubleheader to give Philadelphia an even break. Collins' brilliant performance gave Philadelphia a 3 to 0 victory in the second game, after the Giants had won the opener, 6 to 2.

The league leading St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of two fine pitching performances to defeat Pittsburgh, (5 to 0 and 4 to 1). Paul Derringer blanked the Pirates on six hits in the opener and Bill Hallahan allowed only seven hits in the nightcap.

Pat Malone of the Chicago cubs allowed Cincinnati only two hits in seven innings but blew up after Grimm's error in the eighth and lost his game, 4 to 3.

Brooklyn and Boston shared honors in a double header. Eddie Brandt bested Dazzy Vance in the first game, 3 to 2, but Brooklyn came from behind to take the second, 4 to 3.

CUMMINGS WINS 100 MILE AUTO RACE AT ROBY SPEEDWAY

Chicago, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Bill Cummings, Indianapolis, won the 100-mile auto race at Roby speedway yesterday in the near-record time of 78 minutes and 19 seconds. Bryan Saulspauigh, Chicago, finished second after Gus Schrader of Cedar Rapids was forced out at the 65-mile mark with a broken steering knuckle.

San Luis Obispo, Calif., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Two new American speed records for automobiles of 183 to 305 cubic inch displacement were set Sunday in a meet at Pismo Beach. The events were timed by the A. A. A.

Ernie Triplett set a mark of 130.7 miles an hour for a measured mile, breaking the former record of 122.6 miles set by Jimmy Murphy at Dayton. "Stubby" Stubblefield traveled at a speed of 130 miles an hour to break the kilometer record. The former record, also held by Murphy, was 122 miles an hour.

PLAY OPENS AT NATIONAL AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNAMENT

2 DAYS' QUALIFYING ROUND, 18 HOLES TODAY AND TUESDAY, REDUCES FIELD TO 32

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Beverly Country Club, Chicago, Aug. 31.—Jack Westland, of Chicago, 1929 French amateur champion and runner-up for the intercollegiate championship in 1925, supplied the first thrill of the opening day's play in the National Amateur Golf championship today when he went out in 33, three under par. Phil Perkins, former British amateur champion, had a disastrous round on his first 9 and took a 43, seven over par.

Bobby Jones followed Jimmy Johnston and Phil Perkins around during part of their match and then picked up Johnny Goodman, Omaha, Neb., and Chick Evans, Chicago, former champion. Jones reported that he shot a 67 at Detroit yesterday. Charley Seaver replaced Frank Kolp, Portland, Ore., and Charles C.

Westland had five birdies, going out in 33 and back in 39.

Westland's card follows:
Out 443 342 634—33
In 364 445 544—39—72

The field was reduced to 137 when Frank Justin, Chicago, and John C. Howard, Kalamazoo, Mich., withdrew, making five withdrawals today.

Westland's 72 became more certain to lead the first day's round as the favorites began to hang up high scores.

Harrison R. "Jimmy" Johnston, St. Paul, 1929 champion and seeded number one, went out in 39, three over par. Phil Perkins, former British amateur champion, had a disastrous round on his first 9 and took a 43, seven over par.

Bobby Jones followed Jimmy Johnston and Phil Perkins around during part of their match and then picked up Johnny Goodman, Omaha, Neb., and Chick Evans, Chicago, former champion. Jones reported that he shot a 67 at Detroit yesterday.

Charley Seaver replaced Frank Kolp, Portland, Ore., and Charles C.

Clare, Orange, Conn., for second place when he came in with a 38-36-74.

Seaver's card follows:
Out 543 552 545—38
In 453 444 435—36—74

Seaver had one birdie, a two on the 187-yard sixth. He was over par on four holes but played his last eight holes in exactly par.

Beverly Country Club, Chicago, Aug. 31.—Two by two, and at 5-minute intervals, the field of 142 players planned to set out today on the trail of National Amateur Golf championship.

The two-day qualifying round, 18 holes today and tomorrow, will reduce the field to 32 players who will begin match play Wednesday. The first and second round matches, 18 holes each, will be played Wednesday, with the quarter-finals Thursday, semi-finals on Friday and finals Saturday, all at 36 holes.

When Jack Westland, one of Chicago's leading contenders and Ellsworth Augustus, Willoughby, Ohio, teed off at 8:30, Bobby Jones, five times titleholder, was on hand as a spectator for the first time since he made his big-time debut many years ago.

With Jones out of competition, the tournament has no favorite. Many players who formerly played with the hope of reaching the finals went out today with high hopes of actually winning the title.

"As long as Bobby Jones was in the field," commented George Voight, "no one else had any kind of a chance to win the title. They played under a mental handicap. Now I feel that I have a good chance to win the title and I know there are many others who feel the same way about it."

Incidentally, Jones is said to favor Voight's chance above any other single player. Jones is not alone in this opinion as many who have followed the veteran New Yorker around Beverly in practice believe he has his game properly attuned for a real championship bid. On his last practice round Sunday Voight shot a 37-38—75, four over par.

Four former champions were entered. They are Chick Evans, Chicago, 1916 and 1920 champion; Max Marston, (Continued on page 6, column 2)

DAMMANN ISSUES INITIAL CALL FOR FOOTBALL TUESDAY

COACH TO DRILL CANDIDATES IN PRELIM STEPS

EXPECTS TO GET IN FOUR OR FIVE PRACTICES BEFORE SCHOOL OPENS

TEN LETTERMEN TO RETURN: BETWEEN 60 AND 70 MAY ANSWER FIRST CALL

Coach Bill Dammann today issued a call for all prospective candidates for the Brainerd high school football team to report for the initial practice Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the municipal field.

The coach will put his men through fundamentals, kicking and informal practices before school opens Tuesday, Sept. 8. He expects to get in four or five practices this week so the men will be able to swing into more strenuous workouts after the opening of school.

Between 60 and 70 candidates are expected to answer the call for gridiron material for the Brainerd high this season. Ten lettermen will return: Franks, Foster, Gabiou, Koeck, McPherson, Templeton, Swanson, Heikkinen, Bob Wygle, Gerry Wygle.

Nine lettermen are lost to the team this year by graduation: Garvey, Cass, Hogan, Lukens, Marshall, Patterson, Schuet, Wareing, Moe.

Among the new candidates who will bid for a berth on the varsity are Lowell White, Clarence Edstrom, Loren Brandt, Clyde Brandow.

Coach Dammann will complete the season's schedule by the latter part of the week, he announced.

Assistant Coach Ben Taylor will be in uniform again this year to give his valuable aid in the building of a strong eleven.

2 DAYS' QUALIFYING ROUND, 18 HOLES TODAY AND TUESDAY, REDUCES FIELD TO 32

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Beverly Country Club, Chicago, Aug. 31.—Jack Westland, Chicago, 1929 French amateur champion, led the early finishers at the end of 18 holes in the first day's play of the National Amateur Golf championship today with a 72, one over par.

Westland had five birdies, going out in 33 and back in 39.

Westland's card follows:

SOUTH SIDE COPS PENNANT IF TEAM WINS CRUCIAL GAME

WIN BY NORTHEAST WILL FORCE A SERIES FOR CITY HONORS

The South Side baseball club will play its smartest ball tonight in an endeavor to cop the city championship without going into a play-off series with Northeast.

The two teams meet at the municipal field at 6 P. M. A win by South Side gives the team the undisputed championship since the team copped the first half and now is tied with Northeast for the second half honors.

A win by Northeast will force a play-off for the city pennant.

South Side took advantage of Staples here yesterday to get in some valuable hitting practice. The team won handily, 9 to 1.

ST. PAUL SPLITS A DOUBLE-HEADER

PLAYED TOLEDO YESTERDAY, RETAINS 13½ GAMES LEAD OVER KANSAS CITY (By United Press)

The league-leading St. Paul club split its American association double-header with the Toledo Mudhens yesterday, but retained its lead of 13½ games over the Kansas City club when the Blues split a two-game bill with the Louisville Colonels.

Indianapolis lost a flock of base hits on the Milwaukee Brewers in the first game of their doubleheader, and then nosed out an 11 inning victory in the second game to gain third place, just 1½ games behind Kansas City. The scores were 13 to 2 and 3 to 2.

In the other engagement of the day Columbus beat Minneapolis in a doubleheader, 12 to 7 and 3 to 2.

Toledo won the first game at St. Paul, 4 to 3, when the Hens bunched hits in the eighth and ninth to score three runs. Behind the seven-hit pitching of Harries, the Saints won the second game, 4 to 1.

Louisville beat the Blues 12 to 8 in the opener, but the Blues smashed the offerings of two Louisville pitchers for 16 hits to win 16 to 4 in the nightcap.

Tokio, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Masazo Makino, 18-year-old swimmer, today claimed a new world's record of 10 minutes, 16.6 seconds for the 800-yard free swim. Makino made his record yesterday in a time trial.

Negroes of Military Genius
Dingiswayo, Chako, Dinguan and Cetawayo were full-blooded Zulu chiefs who, by the strategic administration of their forces, their bravery and undoubted capacity for leadership, prevented for a long time the settlement by the Dutch and later the English of the territory of Zululand, now a part of the Union of South Africa. Cetawayo, particularly, caused grave concern to the British government, defeating a large contingent of British troops.

Philadelphia, 1923 champion; Francis Quimet, Boston, 1914 champion, and Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, 1929 champion.

Another ex-champion, Jesse Guilford, Boston, 1921 titleholder, was among the 11 withdrawals from the original field of 153 who survived the nation-wide qualifying test. Others who withdrew were John and Alarie De Forest, England; Dexter Cummings, Chicago; J. Wood Platt, Chestnut Hill, Pa.; James Bush, Dayton, O.; F. D. Ross, Hartford, Conn.; Emory Stratton and Clark Hodder, West Newton, Mass.; Lewis Bredin, Detroit; and Lee Chase, Buffalo.

Cyril Tolley, former British amateur champion, who unexpectedly entered last Friday; C. Ross Sommerville, London, Ont., Canadian amateur champion, and Jack Cameron, Montreal, are the only three foreign entrants, although another player who could take the title away from the U. S. is Francis H. I. Brown, Honolulu millionaire.

During the practice rounds the past week only one player was able to equal par. Frank Dolp, gangling Portland, Ore., youngster, shot four birdies on the second nine Sunday to turn in a 71. He was out in 38 and back in 33.

Roland Mackenzie had a 73 Sunday and Little a 73 Friday.

Few of the outstanding contenders were among the early starters. Starting times of five of the twosomes expected to draw a large share of the gallery follow:

8:50—Bud McKinney, Dallas, Texas, and Charley Kocsis, Detroit.

9:55—Gene Homans, Englewood, N. J., and Cyril Tolley, England.

10:10—Phil Perkins, England, and Harrison R. Johnston, St. Paul.

11:45—George Voight, New York, and Dr. Oscar Willing, Portland, Ore.

Favorites and champions found the course baffling and Harrison R. Jimmy Johnston, Minneapolis, 1929 champion, H. Phillip Perkins, New York, former British champion, were among those who became uncertain qualifiers. Each had an 82, eleven over par, and will have to stage comebacks tomorrow in order to qualify for match play starting Wednesday.

RUDY JURAN WINS 10,000 LAKES GOLF TOURNAMENT

DEFEATS N. E. SWANSON 5 AND 3 IN THE FINAL MATCH SUNDAY

MRS. ROSCOE FAWCETT, MINNEAPOLIS, WINS WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP

Rudy Juran, Minneapolis, today held the Ten Thousand Lakes Golf championship after defeating N. E. Swanson of St. Paul, 5 and 3, at Breezy Point.

Mrs. Roscoe Fawcett, Minneapolis and Breezy Point, won the women's championship from Betty Hays, youthful sensation from Minneapolis. The score was 4 and 3.

Mrs. Fawcett was runner-up in the 1924 and 1928 tournaments.

Although Swanson, who recently won the state American Legion title, was out-driving his opponent on many holes, Juran hammered away at a consistent game which, coupled with his superior golfing endurance and experience, proved too much for the runner-up.

Swanson provided the upset of the entire meet when he first downed Roscoe Fawcett, titleholder in 1929, to win his way to the semi-finals and then outplayed Conway Bolstad Sunday morning to gain the right to meet Juran in the premier match.

Juran, favorite to reach the final match since the outset of the tournament, experienced little difficulty in his semi-final match with Chad Jewett of Bemidji, shooting a 74 for the round.

Mrs. Roscoe Fawcett, runner-up in 1924 and 1928, won the right to succeed Mrs. Ralph Little as reigning champion when she downed the youthful Betty Hays, Minneapolis, 4 and 3, in a well played match.

Miss Hays, who is playing her first year of tournament competition, carried the veteran Mrs. Fawcett all even for the first 11 holes with some excellent golf but could not maintain the pace and dropped the next four holes.

Both the new champion and the runner-up had overturned pre-tournament dope by eliminating Mrs. Ralph Little, defending champion, and Mrs. A. W. Clapp, St. Paul women's champion, in their semi-final matches.

In a special pro-amateur event, staged after the close of the tournament, Ernie Penfold, Minneapolis club, and his amateur partner, Ralph Little, also of Minneapolis club, led the field in a best ball match with a card of 71.

Fulaski Honored

The Post Office department says that a postage stamp was issued in honor of General Fulaski because of his heroism displayed in the American Revolution. In 1767 he joined Washington's army as a volunteer. He performed distinctive service in the battle of Brandywine and received from congress promotion to the rank of brigadier general in command of a division of cavalry. He later formed an independent corps of cavalry and light infantry, known as Pulaski's legion.

QUALIFYING rounds for the National Amateur golf championship start at the Beverly Country Club, near Chicago, today and at the end of tomorrow's medal play, the field will be cut to thirty-two. Eighteen holes today and the same tomorrow; then will come the traditional "Black Wednesday" and the start of those dread 18-hole match eliminations. Those who tee off this morning at Beverly have survived 36-hole district qualifying rounds played more than a month ago, the most conspicuous victim of which was Don Moe who failed to make the grade.

George Voigt is favored to win by the weight of more or less expert opinion, but such choices seldom come through in golf save when Robert Tyre Jones was picked and even he failed occasionally. Phil Perkins, former British amateur champion, is second choice among those who are so whimsical or rash as to predict a golf winner over a route studded with those treacherously short 18-hole matches, where even a Goodman could beat a Jones while the latter was just warming up.

Beverly will abound with most of our links stars—Gene Homans, Charley Scaver, Maurice McCarthy, Lawson Little, Fay Coleman, Johnny Lehman, Harrison (Jimmy) Johnston, 1929 winner, 18-year-old Charles Kocsis, and others. Chic Evans, Francis Quimet, and H. Chandler Egan—all former title-holders—head the veterans who will be almost as numerous as the youngsters in this classic. In that elder group, Dr. Oscar Willing seems to be the most formidable.

FIND 3 BODIES OF FARMER'S FAMILY

FESSENDEN, N. D., JURY IN- QUIRES INTO THEIR VIOLENT DEATHS

Fessenden, N. D., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—A coroner's inquest today revealed details of the finding of the bodies of three members of the Gus Steensgard family at their farm home, near Hamburg.

Henry Ludahl, Hamburg merchant, described how he found Steensgard dead in a rocking chair with a pistol in his hand. Ludahl had come to the Steensgard home to deliver gasoline.

Steensgard, apparently had shot down his wife who was working in the pantry, preparing breakfast Saturday and then rushed into a bedroom where his son Lawrence, 16, slept. Lawrence was killed before he could get out of bed, Ludahl said.

Steensgard then committed suicide, the coroner decided. Lawrence Steensgard, a brother of Gus, said his brother had been despondent for some time.

Appendicitis

The year 1838 was distinguished by the first operation for disease of the appendix as such. The first decisive step in the direction of modern methods was taken by a London physician named Handcock. The first operation on the appendix performed in the United States was done by R. J. Hall of New York on May 8, 1886.

Starting the Long Trek

"Can he come back?" was the thought uppermost in the minds of thousands at Portland, Ore., the other night when Jack Dempsey returned to the ring to box four opponents six rounds each. Jack got off to an auspicious start by knocking out two of the four in the opening rounds. He's still the idol of the ring fans. Good luck, Jack!

SOUTH SIDE COPS PENNANT IF TEAM WINS CRUCIAL GAME

WIN BY NORTHEAST WILL FORCE A SERIES FOR CITY HONORS

The South Side baseball club will play its smartest ball tonight in an endeavor to cop the city championship without going into a play-off series with Northeast.

The two teams meet at the municipal field at 6 P. M. A win by South Side gives the team undisputed championship since the team copped the first half and now is tied with Northeast for the second half honors.

A win by Northeast will force a play-off for the city pennant.

South Side took advantage of Staples here yesterday to get in some valuable hitting practice. The team won handily, 9 to 1.

ST. PAUL SPLITS A DOUBLE-HEADER

PLAYED TOLEDO YESTERDAY, RETAINS 13½ GAMES LEAD OVER KANSAS CITY (By United Press)

The league-leading St. Paul club split its American association double-header with the Toledo Mudhens yesterday, but retained its lead of 13½ games over the Kansas City club when the Blues split a two-game bill with the Louisville Colonels.

Indianapolis loosed a flock of base hits on the Milwaukee Brewers in the first game of their doubleheader, and then nosed out an 11-inning victory in the second game to gain third place, just 1½ games behind Kansas City. The scores were 13 to 2 and 3 to 2.

In the other engagement of the day Columbus beat Minneapolis in a doubleheader, 12 to 7 and 3 to 2.

Toledo won the first game at St. Paul, 4 to 3, when the Hens bunched hits in the eighth and ninth to score three runs. Behind the seven-hit pitching of Harries, the Saints won the second game, 4 to 1.

BANDITS GET $45 IN RESORT HOLDUP

Authorities Believe They Have License
Number of Bandit Car That
Raided Wa-Ma-Dee

GRAB SLOT MACHINE

Hold up Wayne Dietz and Guests Sunday Night; Shots Fired at Fleeing Machine

Authorities today had the license number of a car which they believe the two bandits who held up the Wa-Ma-Dee Point resort on Upper Cullen Lake escaped in last night.

The bandits, armed, executed the "stickup" in the presence of Wayne Dietz, resort owner, and a number of guests. They walked out with a five-cent slot machine and approximately $45 in cash.

The holdup occurred at 10:30 p. m. As the men raced their machine over the hill to Trunk Highway No. 19, Dietz stepped from the lodge and fired several shots from a long distance rifle. He does not know if any of the bullets took effect.

County Sheriff Frank E. Little has wired the Secretary of State's office for ownership of the car bearing the license number B90-123. The number of the car was taken by a person at Nisswa who reported that men answering the description of the bandits were inquiring if business was good at establishments there.

SPEED EVENTS AT STATE FAIR

Carl Marchesse, Gus Schrader, Hard
Driving Auto Race Pilots,
Enter Same

Carl Marchesse of Milwaukee and Gus Schrader of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, two of the hardest driving auto race pilots in the land, have sent in their entries for the speed events which will open the program of the Minnesota State Fair which opens one week from last Saturday. Their entries have just been received by Lee M. Shnell, in charge of track events.

Marchesse will bring his famous Miller racing creation here. This is the car in which Johnny Sawyer established five world's records at last year's exposition. It has been thoroughly rebuilt this summer, and the addition of a supercharger has increased the speed of the machine several miles an hour, according to Marchesse. Carl will not drive the car, having retired from active competition following his near fatal accident in Springfield, Ill., a year ago, but he will have a pilot with speedway experience at the wheel.

Gus Schrader needs no introduction to State Fair fans. He has appeared here on several occasions in the past and is a prime favorite with the racing fans. The Hawkeye speed king is a firm believer in free wheeling and he takes the turns like nobody's business. He will ship his Frontenac car here from Milwaukee, where he is scheduled to race early next week.

With Marchesse, Schrader and Johnny Sawyer entries, fans can look forward to some keenly contested races. Sawyer is coming back to defend the records he established here in 1930, and will introduce a brand of new Miller to the bugs. It is a straight eight with a cubic piston displacement of 91 inches.

Other pilots whose entries have been received for the opening day card are Clarence "Norake" Larson of St. Paul; George Gutu of Grand Forks; Swan Peterson of Galesburg; Frank Brisco of Milwaukee; and Barney McKenna of Roby, Ind.

Each Classroom to Receive Portrait-poster of Washington Through Congressman Knutson

Announcement was made today by Congressman Harold Knutson that every schoolroom of every school in his district will, within a few weeks after the opening of the new school term, receive a beautiful portrait-poster of George Washington, executed in colors.

The portrait to be used in these posters is a reproduction of the famous Gilbert Stuart Athenaeum painting and will be 22 inches by 28 inches in size. The poster was selected after a good deal of study, and is considered the finest example of poster making available.

The poster-pictures featuring George Washington are being distributed by Congressman Knutson in cooperation with the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission of Washington, D. C., in order to stimulate interest among the thousands of school children of his district in the coming nine-months celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of the Father of Our Country.

Congressman Knutson is in constant touch with the activities of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission which was created by Congress to formulate and execute plans for the great celebration in 1932.

The United States Commission is placing a good deal of emphasis on the cooperation of the school children of America in this historic event. This poster-picture is just one feature of its work.

Congressman Knutson announced that he will see to it that the schools, clubs, churches, and fraternal and patriotic organizations in his district will be adequately supplied with literature to be issued by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

The George Washington Bicentennial Celebration will begin on February 22, 1932, and last until the following Thanksgiving Day.

2 FIGHTING "RED DEVILS" OF U.
S. MARINE CORPS DESCRIBE
SENSATIONS

AERIAL COLLISION OCCURRED IN
MANEUVERS AT CLEVELAND
AIR RACES

By JOHN OWEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Cleveland, Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—Two fighting "red devils" of the United States marine corps today described the death they saw and escaped after their planes collided 1,500 feet above Cleveland airport during the second day of the national air races.

Reliving the second following the crash aloft, Lieut. Lawson A. Sanderson, commander of the marine squadron, told of his own sensations as he struggled to release his parachute, which had caught on the tail of his plane. Lieut. W. O. Brice, pilot of the other disabled ship, also recounted his experience.

"Although I was fighting to break loose from the plane, I felt that it was someone else in danger," Lieut. Sanderson said. "I myself was among the crowd of 60,000 watching the struggle. I saw myself pull the chute loose when the plane was just 400 feet from the ground."

He floated down within 25 feet of his wrecked plane, and retrieved his goggles from the debris.

In recounting the accident, Lieut. Brice, who was stationed in China during an uprising four years ago, said he heard a crash and was stunned when his head hit the instrument board of his plane.

"I bailed out of the plane instinctively," he declared. "When I regained my senses I was drifting to earth. I don't remember pulling the parachute ring."

The aerial collision occurred during the tactical maneuvers. Seven other marine planes, which were following Lieut. Sanderson in close formation, completed their exhibition as though nothing had happened.

A few minutes after the thrilling escape of the two marines, Mrs. Phoebe Omile, diminutive Memphis, Tenn., aviatrix, set her small monoplane down in front of the grand stand to lead 51 other contestants "home" in the national sweepstakes handicap derby. Mrs. Omile's efficiency record for the 2,400 miles flight from Santa Monica, Calif., was 109.16.

SAYS HOUR OF HIS FUNERAL GREATEST THRILL IN 80 YEARS

S. R. (UNCLE STEVE) PATTON,
ILLINOIS FARMER, PLEASED WITH SERVICES

"FUNERAL" HELD WITH NO COFFIN OR CORPSE, PATTON IS CHIEF MOURNER

Benton, Ill., Aug. 31.—(U.P.)—S. R. (Uncle Steve) Patton, prominent Franklin county farmer, declared today that the hour of his own funeral was to him the greatest in all his 80 years of living.

Patton's funeral was held yesterday although there was no corpse or coffin. Patton himself was the chief mourner, but he didn't mourn. He was, on the contrary, supreme happy. After the funeral he gave a picnic dinner for all the other mourners.

When Patton learned several weeks ago that his relatives and friends were planning a party for him on his 80th birthday, he thought the matter over and announced "let's make it a funeral instead." They let him have his way.

"If I'm to have flowers, I'd rather have them while I'm alive," said "Uncle Steve," the name which almost every person in Franklin county calls him.

According to Patton's orders, funeral plans were made just as they would have been had he really been dead instead of celebrating a birthday. Floral offerings—and there were many—were placed in his lap.

The Rev. John B. Moulding preached the funeral sermon. Five other ministers, J. R. McDuffy, R. E. Burt, C. C. Mitchell, Mal Keene and G. W. Creed also spoke.

The biblical quotation, "I am in a strait, having a desire to depart and be with Jesus," was Rev. Moulding's text.

"This is a strange funeral," the pastor said, "but we can find no valid arguments against this favored plan of brother Patton. He spent many years in wickedness, I am told, but some 48 years ago embraced the christian religion and has lived a useful and devoted christian life ever since."

A quartet sang several songs which Patton thought appropriate.

"It's the greatest hour of my life save the one I found my saviour," said Patton. "It takes something like this to show one how many friends he has."

BANDITS GET $45 IN RESORT HOLDUP

Authorities Believe They Have License
Number of Bandit Car That
Raided Wa-Ma-Dee

GRAB SLOT MACHINE

Hold up Wayne Dietz and Guests Sunday Night; Shots Fired at Fleeing Machine

Authorities today had the license number of a car which they believe the two bandits who held up the Wa-Ma-Dee Point resort on Upper Cullen Lake escaped in last night.

The bandits, armed, executed the "stickup" in the presence of Wayne Dietz, resort owner, and a number of guests. They walked out with a five cent slot machine and approximately $45 in cash.

The holdup occurred at 10:30 p. m. As the men raced their machine over the hill to Trunk Highway No. 19, Dietz stepped from the lodge and fired several shots from a long distance rifle. He does not know if any of the bullets took effect.

County Sheriff Frank E. Little has wired the Secretary of State's office for ownership of the car bearing the license number B90-123. The number of the car was taken by a person at Nisswa who reported that men answering the description of the bandits were inquiring if business was good at establishments there.

SPEED EVENTS AT STATE FAIR

Carl Marchesse, Gus Schrader, Hard Driving Auto Race Pilots, Enter Race

Carl Marchesse of Milwaukee and Gus Schrader of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, two of the hardest driving auto race pilots in the land, have sent in their entries for the speed events which will open the program of the Minnesota State Fair which opens one week from last Saturday. Their entries have just been received by Lee M. Shell, in charge of track events.

Marchesse will bring his famous Miller racing creation here. This is the car in which Johnny Sawyer established five world's records at last year's exposition. It has been thoroughly rebuilt this summer, and the addition of a supercharger has increased the speed of the machine several miles an hour, according to Marchesse. Carl will not drive the car, having retired from active competition following his near fatal accident in Springfield, Ill., a year ago, but he will have a pilot with speedway experience at the wheel.

Gus Schrader needs no introduction to State Fair fans. He has appeared here on several occasions in the past and is a prime favorite with the racing fans. The Hawkeye speed king is a firm believer in free wheeling and he takes the turns like nobody's business. He will ship his Frontenac car here from Milwaukee, where he is scheduled to race early next week.

With Marchesse, Schrader and Johnny Sawyer entries, fans can look forward to some keenly contested races. Sawyer is coming back to defend the records he established here in 1930, and will introduce a brand of new Miller to the bugs. It is a straight eight with a cubic piston displacement of 91 inches. Other pilots whose entries have been received for the opening day card are Clarence "Norske" Larson of St. Paul; George Guttu of Grand Forks, Swan Peterson of Galesburg, Frank Brisco of Milwaukee, and Barney McKenna of Roby, Ind.

SAYS HOUR OF HIS FUNERAL GREATEST THRILL IN 80 YEARS

Travers Lorrimer, shell-shocked war veteran and son of wealthy Margaret Lorrimer, mistakes pretty Mary Lou Thurston for Delight Harford, whom he is supposed to have married in England. Mrs. Lorrimer induces Mary Lou to assume the role of Delight, of whom no trace can be found. Travers is told he must begin again with friendship. His interest in life is renewed. No mention is made of his marriage until the visit of Larry Mitchell, Mary Lou's friend. Then Travers, believing Larry is in love with Mary Lou, reminds her she is his wife. At Christmas Mary Lou, irritated by Travers' lack of holiday spirit, terms him selfish. Brought to his senses, he joins his mother and Mary Lou in delivering gifts to the needy. At the Veterans' Hospital Travers meets his old buddy, Jimmy McEwan, and plans to help him. Travers gives Mary Lou a sapphire ring and speaks of the seal ring he gave her. Mary Lou believes then that he really married Delight, using a seal ring. That night he kisses Mary Lou. Realizing she loves him and cannot go on pretending, Mary Lou plans to leave. Later she changes her mind. Mrs. Lorrimer remarks the change in Mary Lou to Dr. Mathews, who tells her he believes Mary Lou loves Travers. Mary Lou confides in Larry. Larry is in love with Jenny Wynne, a friend of the Lorrimeres. Travers calls Mary Lou "Dearest" and she rushes to her room in tears. Travers sends McEwan to a splendid Lake Placid sanatorium.

CHAPTER XXX.

MUCH that he had forced to the back of his mind, things which lay buried in his subconscious mind, were, perforce, dragged to the sunlight, mulled over, discussed, commented upon.

For Mac, invalidated all these years, by reason of his lameness and the gasped lungs, had had little in the way of a future to look forward to; had become reconciled to a slow death, and lived, almost exclusively, in his memory of those brief and action-cramped years, into which he had packed, it seemed, his entire life. Mac looked backward—with clear, rather humorous and quite unselfish eyes. "It was a great war while it lasted," Mac said.

Mutual Understanding.

His conversation, therefore, while with Lorrimer, turned for the most part upon the events through which they, mutually, had lived. And Lorrimer had to listen, had to talk, and so came gradually to unburden himself of much that had been festering in his mind, eating at the frayed edges of his nerves, sinking through his thoughts, the dark, starved rats of unhealthy memory.

And thus, playing his part with a metaphorically bitten lip and stiffened spine, Lorrimer came to find laughter again in memories, and pity and a healing loss of self.

After leaving Mac at the sanatorium, the Lorrimeres and Mary Lou went on to Placid, where they had two glorious weeks of winter sport. Mary Lou had not been sledged, skated, skied and snowshoed in high, glorious mountain air since her childhood, when, for a short time, she and her parents had been at St. Moritz, in Switzerland.

At Placid, Jenny Wynne and her elder brother and his wife joined them for the last week, and so Mrs. Lorrimer, with a wholly womanly regard for lovers, invited Larry up for the final week-end, and Larry came, every red hair on his head flaming with satisfaction, having combined business with pleasure in persuading his editor to allow him to do a special article upon the winter antics of the fortunate rich, to be read by shivering stenographers and clerks clinging to straps in the subway trains which propelled them to their business of earning a living.

He had obtained the press agent job, he told Mary Lou, which was to exploit an English revue, coming to town in the early Spring. He didn't, he confessed, grinning, know much about specialized publicity, but he thought that he could manage to see that the star's jewels were stolen or her pet dog afflicted with pneumonia. Anyway, from what he had already learned, publicity would come easily. One of the girls in the company had a title, or she said she had; a juvenile lead was the disinherited son of a great shipbuilder, and one of the chorus or show girls had been married to no less than three lords—not all at the same time.

"There was a woman once," explained Larry to Jenny, Mary Lou and Travers, "who married a couple of dukes. They called her the double duchess. How about this one being a triple lady? Sounds like a triple bromide, but maybe it will catch on!"

An Incentive to Win

He was in high spirits. Jenny was kind, and even if he didn't know much about skiing and fell ingloriously upon his nose and stuck in snowbanks, long legs waving, her laughter was entirely friendly and she took great pains to instruct him in the various difficult sports. Also he was now writing signed special articles for his paper, and had sold the first of a series of short stories on newspaper life to a popular weekly and expected to sell many more—and his bank account had swelled gorgeously.

He had always been ambitious, but had never taken himself very seriously. Mary Lou had been his closest confidante, a pink and interested ear into which he was wont to pour the varied colored tales of his experiences and hopes. But in Jenny he had an incentive, a spur to performance.

Her laughing ladyship kept her own counsel. What Jenny thought of Larry and his importunities, his disarming impertinences, his obvious enchantment, was nobody's business but Jenny's. So her friends watched the little comedy, smiling, and no one interfered, not even her very wise parents, who had met Larry and liked him and who, contrary to current ideas about people of means and position, desired nothing more—nor less—for their only daughter than her happiness. So if Larry proved to be her happiness she could have him and they would make him very welcome.

But Jenny said nothing. Only her amber yellow curls danced about her pointed face with increased vitality, it seemed, and her eyes danced, too, and she was alternately serious and absurd, but she remained kind to her besotted swain, which was more than she usually did for one in his condition.

Mary Lou was not happy, but Mary Lou was permitting herself to drift. For one entirely dreadful moment, that Winter's afternoon in the library when she and Lorrimer had come in from skating and looked at the books together—and at each other—she had been sickeningly afraid that he had guessed the stark, wonderful and yet terrible fact which she had tried so hard to conceal.

But he had made no gesture and said no word, and she had begun to believe that the recognition which she had fancied she saw in his eyes had been a figment of her overstimulated imagination. If anything, things had been easier for her since then. Lorrimer had seemed light-hearted, interested in matters other than herself, in McEwan, in his own now vigorous routine, in the complicated running of a big place like Westwood, and was talking quite seriously of going to work, of taking his place in the office in New York which ran his father's estate—a complete business of renting, leasing and investing in itself. He had talked it over with Dr. Mathews and Mathews had agreed with one reservation.

"Fine! The very best thing you can do," he had said. "But give yourself until the Autumn. You are in perfectly good health, as far as I can judge, but I don't want you to plunge into office work, with all its confining conditions, rush and general expenditure of energy, too soon. Give your nerves a chance to get a padding of sound, firm flesh; get a few more solid pounds on those big bones of yours. Get lots of sleep and exercise and by Fall we'll have you fit to lick Dempsey in his prime. And then I'll wash my hands of you medically and discharge you as a patient, I hope, for good."

Lorrimer had consented. He was, in point of fact, seriously anxious to be with Mary Lou as much as possible for a little while longer, feeling, as he did, that the resistance he laid to pride would wear down and that by the time Autumn came all misunderstandings and withholdings would have vanished between them and she would come to keep her promise to him. "And then," thought Lorrimer, exultant, "I'll have everything—everything!"

Perfect Happiness.

If these dreams of his came true he was perfectly right. Health and work, home and friends, wife and love; no man can have more, and many have a good deal less.

The Lorrimer party returned to Westwood House presently and Lorrimer, with his increased interest in life in general and business in particular, began to confer with his mother over the routine of the place, and to see occasionally, both in town and at home, the manager of the Lorrimer estate, John Kent. He and Mary Lou read evenings, listened to the radio—which had never, until recently, afforded him anything but exasperation—and now and then went to town for a matinee or an evening play. He was an absolutely different man from the man who had come into the morning room that day in early November.

In a sense, Mary Lou couldn't understand it; the change was so great and the time had been so short. She spoke to Mathews about it and he laughed at her, in his friendly fashion.

"But he wasn't ill, not really," said Mathews. "His constitution was perfectly sound. He needed merely—an interest in life. That, you have given him, my dear. And the rest followed naturally, the building up of a run-down physique and the healing of sick nerves. He could have gone on in that other half-invalid state indefinitely; we could do nothing; he had to be taken out of himself, voluntarily, he needed the will to live, the will to be well. He'll not backslide now, I think; but we have to watch out a little. These old fits of depression, have you noticed that they have bothered him at all?"

"No, not recently," she told him.

WEAKNESS SHOWN IN MARKET LEADERS

MAIN BODY OF STOCKS HOLDS CLOSE TO PREVIOUS LEVELS IN DULL TRADING

By ELMER C. WALZER (United Press Financial Editor)

New York, Aug. 31.—Weakness in a number of the market leaders gave the stocks an irregular tone in early trading today. The main body of stocks held close to previous levels in dull trading.

Selling of a professional nature appeared at the outset in speculative favorites such as American Can, American Telephone, American and Foreign Power, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, United States Steel and J. I. Case, these issues suffering recessions of a fraction to more than two points.

Nothing occurred over the week-end to account for the renewed pressure in the leaders unless it was a desire on a part of traders to take advantage of the increased bullishness to reduce their holdings.

He was in high spirits. Jenny was kind, and, even if he didn't know much about skiing and fell ingloriously upon his nose and stuck in snowbanks, long legs waving, her laughter was entirely friendly and she took great pains to instruct him in the various difficult sports. Also he was now writing signed special articles for his paper, and had sold the first of a series of short stories on newspaper to a popular weekly and expected to sell many more—and his bank account had swelled gorgeously.

He had always been ambitious, but had never taken himself very seriously. Mary Lou had been his closest confidante, a pink and interested ear into which he was wont to pour the varied colored tales of his experiences and hopes. But in Jenny he had an incentive, a spur to performance.

Her laughing ladyship kept her own counsel. What Jenny thought of Larry and his importunities, his disarming impertinences, his obvious enchantment, was nobody's business but Jenny's. So her friends watched the little comedy, smiling, and no one interfered, not even her very wise parents, who had met Larry and liked him and who, contrary to current ideas about people of means and position, desired nothing more—nor less—for their only daughter than her happiness. So if Larry proved to be her happiness she could have him and they would make him very welcome.

But Jenny said nothing. Only her amber yellow curls danced about her pointed face with increased vitality, it seemed, and her eyes danced, too, and she was alternately serious and absurd, but she remained kind to her besotted swain, which was more than she usually did for one in his condition.

Mary Lou was not happy, but Mary Lou was permitting herself to drift. For one entirely dreadful moment, that Winter's afternoon in the library when she and Lorrimer had come in from skating and looked at the books together—and at each other—she had been sickeningly afraid that he had guessed the stark, wonderful and yet terrible fact which she had tried so hard to conceal.

But he had made no gesture and said no word, and she had begun to believe that the recognition which she had fancied she saw in his eyes had been a figment of her overstimulated imagination. If anything, things had been easier for her since then. Lorrimer had seemed light-hearted, interested in matters other than herself, in McEwan, in his own now vigorous routine, in the complicated running of a big place like Westwood, and was talking quite seriously of going to work, of taking his place in the office in New York which ran his father's estate—a complete business of renting, leasing and investing in itself. He had talked it over with Dr. Mathews and Mathews had agreed with one reservation.

"Fine! The very best thing you can do," he had said. "But give yourself until the Autumn. You are in perfectly good health, as far as I can judge, but I don't want you to plunge into office work, with all its confining conditions, rush and general expenditure of energy, too soon. Give your nerves a chance to get a padding of sound, firm flesh; get a few more solid pounds on those big bones of yours. Get lots of sleep and exercise and by Fall we'll have you fit to lick Dempsey in his prime. And then I'll wash my hands of you medically and discharge you as a patient, I hope, for good."

Lorrimer had consented. He was, in point of fact, seriously anxious to be with Mary Lou as much as possible for a little while longer, feeling, as he did, that the resistance he laid to pride would wear down and that by the time Autumn came all misunderstandings and withholdings would have vanished between them and she would come to keep her promise to him. "And then," thought Lorrimer, exultant, "I'll have everything—everything!"

Perfect Happiness.

If these dreams of his came true he was perfectly right. Health and work, home and friends, wife and love; no man can have more, and many have a good deal less.

The Lorrimer party returned to Westwood House presently and Lorrimer, with his increased interest in life in general and business in particular, began to confer with his mother over the routine of the place, and to see occasionally, both in town and at home, the manager of the Lorrimer estate, John Kent. He and Mary Lou read evenings, listened to the radio—which had never, until recently, afforded him anything but exasperation—and now and then went to town for a matinee or an evening play. He was an absolutely different man from the man who had come into the morning room that day in early November.

In a sense, Mary Lou couldn't understand it; the change was so great and the time had been so short. She spoke to Mathews about it and he laughed at her, in his friendly fashion.

"But he wasn't ill, not really," said Mathews. "His constitution was perfectly sound. He needed merely—an interest in life. That, you have given him, my dear. And the rest followed naturally, the building up of a run-down physique and the healing of sick nerves. He could have gone on in that other half-invalid state indefinitely; we could do nothing; he had to be taken out of himself, voluntarily. He needed the will to live, the will to be well. He'll not backslide now, I think; but we have to watch out a little. These old fits of depression, have you noticed that they have bothered him at all?"

"No, not recently," she told him.

WEAKNESS SHOWN IN MARKET LEADERS

MAIN BODY OF STOCKS HOLDS CLOSE TO PREVIOUS LEVELS IN DULL TRADING

By ELMER C. WALZER (United Press Financial Editor)

New York, Aug. 31.—Weakness in a number of the market leaders gave the stocks an irregular tone in early trading today. The main body of stocks held close to previous levels in dull trading.

Selling of a professional nature appeared at the outset in speculative favorites such as American Can, American Telephone, American and Foreign Power, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, United States Steel and J. I. Case, these issues suffering recessions of a fraction to more than two points.

Nothing occurred over the week-end to account for the renewed pressure in the leaders unless it was a desire on a part of traders to take advantage of the increased bullishness to reduce their holdings.
